

A satellite-style map of the United States with a network of yellow lines representing roads. A red line traces a path across the country, starting from the West Coast, moving eastward, and then curving northward towards the Northeast. Small yellow house icons are placed along this red line, indicating specific locations or stops. The text 'RAAM 2015' is overlaid in the center of the map.

RAAM 2015